Caucus Will Adopt Currency Bill
By an Overwhelming Vote.

CERTAIN TO PASS THE HOUSE

Believed the Money Bill Will Be Ready For the Senate by the Middle of September—Insurgents to Make Fight in Caucus and On Floor of House—Number of Republicans to Support the Measure.

Washington, Aug. 7.—A canvass of the house, just concluded under the direction of Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader, discloses that the administration banking and currency bill will be adopted in the party caucus to be held Monday by an overwhelming vote. The leaders appear to be confident that the radical element will confine their opposition to the measure to the caucus, and that when the bill is called up in the house that it will have the support of practically every Democratic member. Further, the leaders say, the bill will receive some measure of support from Republicans. Representative Glass of Virginia, chairman of the committee on banking and currency, predicted that the bill would be passed by the house on or about Sept. 15.

The banking and currency situation has cleared immeasurably in the past week, and the present orderly state of affairs is attributed in large part to the good offices of Leader Underwood.

Acting on behalf of the administration, Mr. Underwood has impressed on the insurgents the necessity of united action by the Democrats. The insurgents will fight the bill in caucus and will be given a chance to vote on the various amendments that were defeated in committee. Among these are the Wingo amendment, aimed at interlocking directorates, and the Ragsdale-Henry amendment, providing for the issuance of currency on cotton, corn and wheat. An effort also will be made to force the adoption of some form of government guarantee of bank deposits. All these propositions will be defeated in the caucus and in the house, according to statements made by the leaders.

The present indications are that the banking bill will not be fought on partisan grounds in the house. A number of Republicans from the west have given notice that they will vote for it. Now that the way has been paved for the passage of the bill in the house, the administration is addressing itself to the task of adjusting the situation in the senate. The president is said to feel confident that the senate will pass the banking bill, although he is aware its consideration in that body will indefinitely prolong the session.

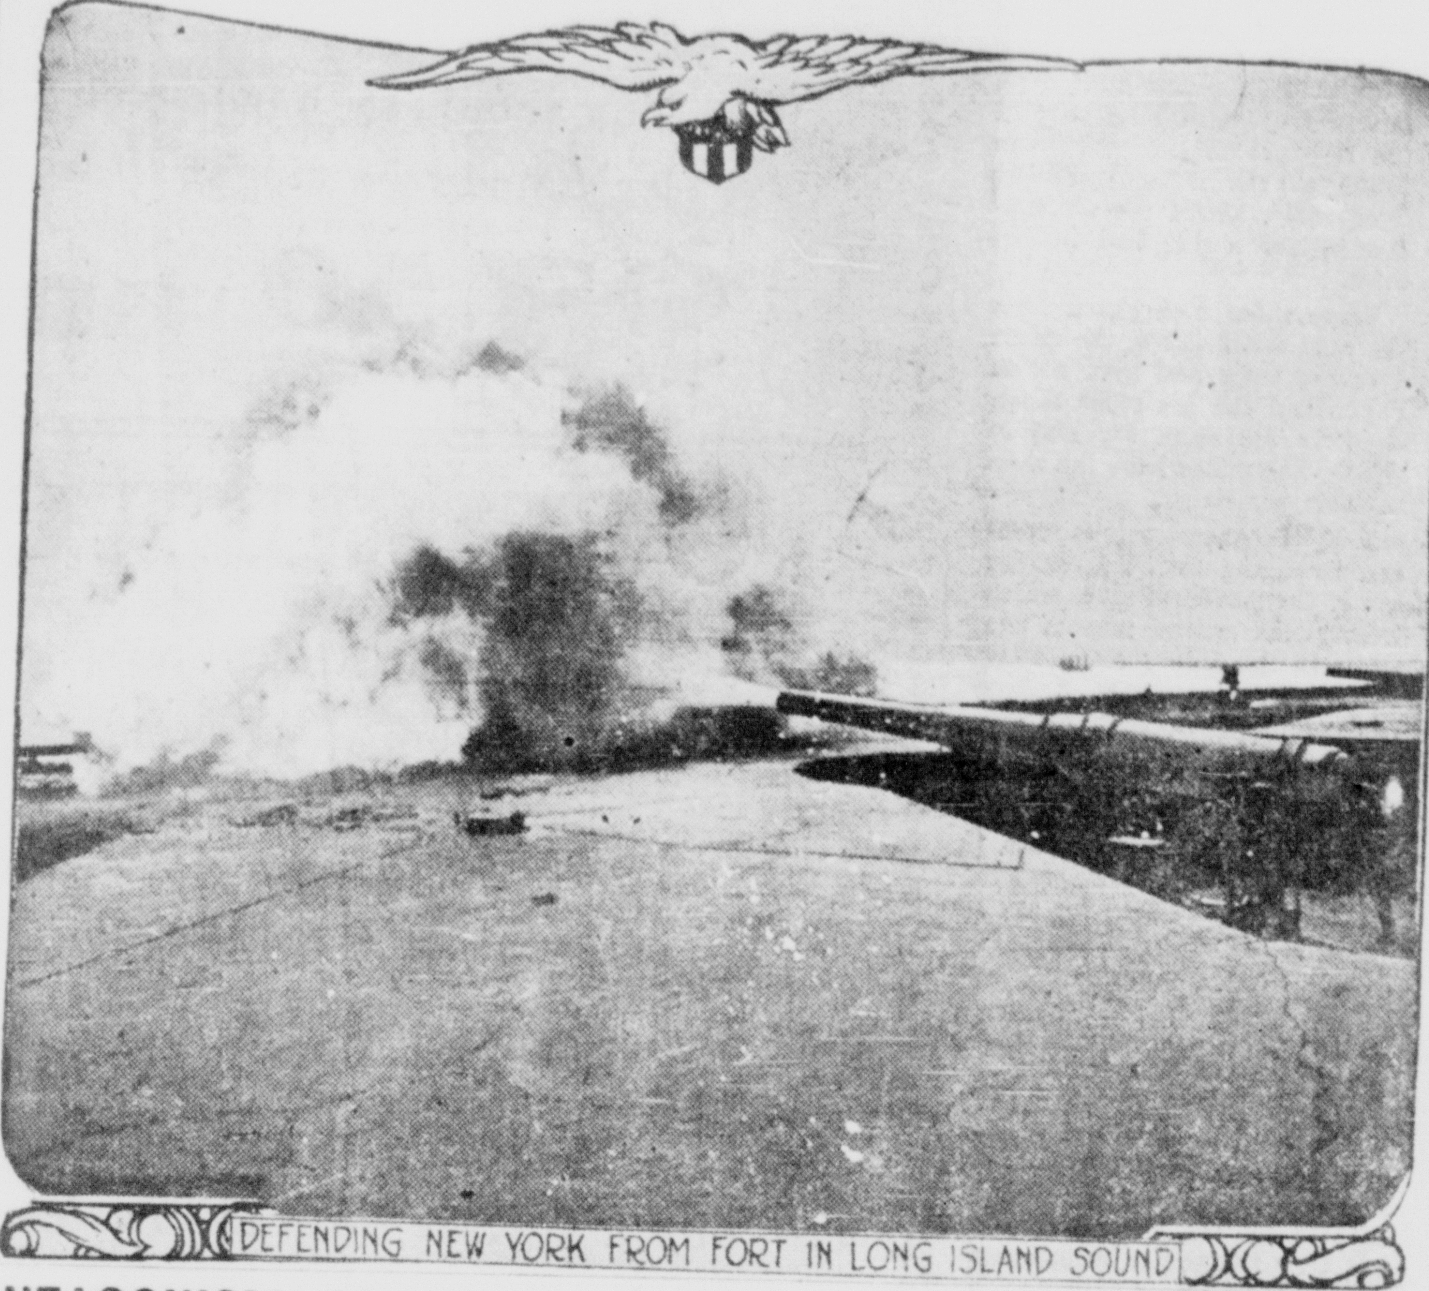

Senator Lea of Tennessee offered a new currency measure in the senate. It differs from the pending bill, being merely an extension of the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency bill. It proposes an issue of $750,000,000 emergency currency through the agency of local reserves in cities. Senator Lea will speak on the bill in a day or two.

WOMEN ARE KILLED

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 7.—A rebel courier who arrived from the scene of the battle at Rancheria reported that two American women were killed in the battle. Mrs. Thomas Dale, wife of a Chihuahua banker, and her niece, Miss Mattie Morrow, were passengers on the train en route to Chihuahua, and are supposed to be the victims.

GUNS OF LONG ISLAND SOUND FORTS BOOM IN WAR GAME TO KEEP ATLANTIC FLEET OUT

New York, Aug. 7.—With the beginning of the bloodless war in which the north Atlantic fleet attempts theoretically to force its way through the eastern entrance of Long Island sound and capture New York city military men the country over watched for details of the work of the war problem. Coast artillerymen who manned the three forts at the entrance were on the alert to prevent any of the great battleships making a dash into the sound. Disappearing guns were carefully trained to cover every inch of the narrow waterway. The game was played on a real war basis, and enough technicalities were mapped out to occupy the entire week, ending Aug. 9.

Into Mexico — Republican Senator
Criticizes President's Policy.

Washington, Aug. 7.—There were two developments at the capital which bore on the Mexican situation. One was a speech by Senator Clark (Rep., Wyo.), advocating the passage of his resolution for an immediate investigation of conditions in Mexico, in which he criticized President Wilson's policy of mediation. The other was the appearance before the senate committee on foreign relations of Colonel Eduardo Hay, a representative of the Mexican Constitutionalists, who declared that if the embargo against the exportation of arms to his co-revolutionists were lifted the Huerta government would be overthrown within 90 days.

President Wilson and state department officials are admittedly marking time, awaiting the arrival of Former Governor Lind, the president's personal representative, at Mexico City. The only announcement from these sources which related to Mexico was that the battleship New Hampshire had been detailed to transport Governor Lind to Vera Cruz.

Colonel Hay made a vigorous presentation of his views in regard to the embargo on arms to the senate committee on foreign relations. He is a former speaker of the Mexican house of deputies, having served at the time that Carranza, the leader of the Constitutionalists, was in the senate. Mr. Hay said he did not believe the mediation plan of the president would succeed. He assured the committee, however, that the members of the

FINANCIERS WILL MEET FOR TALK

BANKERS TO MEET

Currency Bill To Be Discussed at Nation-wide Conference.

New York, Aug. 7.—A call has been sent out by the American Bankers' association to the bankers of the country to meet in a nation-wide conference for action on the currency bill. It promises to be the most important conference the association has ever called together. The calling of the conference is nominally made dependent upon whether the Democratic caucus of the house, meeting Aug. 11, determines to proceed with the present bill. It is practically assured, however, that the conference will be held, as bankers feel certain that the caucus will support the administration measure. The summons for the conference was issued by A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National bank. The meeting will be held in Chicago.

PATIENT SUFFERER

RELIEVED BY DEATH

Passed Twenty-seven Years in Bed, Practically in One Position.

Wellington, Mo., Aug. 7.—Thomas F. Lockhart, after passing 27 years in bed, practically in one position, came to the death he for years had prayed for. Lockhart's joints were ossified so that the only movements of the body he could make were a shuffling of the right shoulder and the middle joints of two fingers on the right hand. With this shoulder and finger movement Lockhart had written an autobiographical book which brought him funds sufficient to purchase the home here in which he died and to pay for a nurse to care for him constantly.

Constitutional party were not openly committed to Carranza for the presidency. They were fighting for the principle of constitutional government he declared.

Counsel For the Equity Association Names Former Speaker Vining in Connection With the Alleged Attempt to Thwart the Filing of Petitions For Referendum On the New Tax Acts.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—Charges by the Equity association of Cleveland that men connected with the Democratic administration and other prominent Democrats had resorted to unlawful means in an attempt to prevent referendum petitions from being filed on the Warnes and Kilpatrick taxation measures, were met by counter charges from Governor Cox that many of the petitions filed contain forged signatures and that the Equity association evidently had employed the same means in securing signatures as was used in securing names for the referendum on the Green workmen's compensation act.

Additional statements given out by Former Assistant Attorney General Miller, local counsel for the Equity association, mention Former Speaker of the House of Representatives S. J. Vining of Mercer county in the alleged attempt to thwart the filing of the referendum petitions.

Detaphone records, alleged to have been taken of a meeting of Democratic leaders in a local hotel, are said to tell of a conversation between Mr. Vining and C. C. Meekison, Henry county auditor, now under arrest on a charge of attempt to burglarize the rooms of the Equity association in Cleveland.

To back up Governor Cox's statement that signatures have been forged on the Warnes and Kilpatrick petitions, is an affidavit of W. H. Clare of Cleveland, formerly connected with the street cleaning department there under the Baer administration, who says that more than 200 names have been added to the petitions which he circulated and made affidavit to. Clare, according to his statement, was employed to circulate petitions by Walter McCaslin, now under arrest on charges of perjury in connection with the compensation act petitions.

"So far as the Meekison affair is concerned," says Governor Cox, "the information at hand leads us to believe that it is purely the fulmination of a bunch of lobbyists, who have been into this thing from the very start."

Show Part of Evidence.

Governor Cox also stated that cursory examination of the Warnes and Kilpatrick petitions shows that many of the signatures are now under arrest on charges of perjury in connection with the workmen's compensation referendum or are being sought as fugitives from justice.

Attorneys Dunbar and Miller of the Equity association showed part of the evidence which Burns detectives have collected against Meekison. Assistant Attorney General McGhee said that the attorney general's department will aid in the prosecution of Meekison when the evidence is placed in his hands. Dunbar and Miller have promised to do this.

It is said about the statehouse that those chiefly engaged in an effort to prevent a referendum on the Warnes and Kilpatrick taxation bills were county politicians who were seeking jobs as deputy tax commissioners.

STILL IS REELING OFF THE NAMES

OHIOANS MENTIONED
AGAIN BY MULHALL

Letter Written From Columbus
Read Before House Probers.

Washington, Aug. 7.—A letter to Secretary Schwedman from Colonel M. M. Mulhall at Columbus, May 28, 1908, before the Republican national convention, describing a visit to "Taft headquarters" by Mulhall, was read before the house lobby probers. "Mr. Henry A. Williams, the chairman of the state committee," wrote Mulhall, "told me that Mr. Vorvys had taken a draft of the national platform to Washington to submit it to the president. Mr. Taft, and others for their approval. He said certainly it was not a completed draft. Mr. Williams sent out for Wade H. Ellis, the attorney general, who drew the draft of the platform, and Mr. C. F. Watts, Mr. Vorvys' private secretary. I had a long interview with these gentlemen."

Mr. Mulhall wrote that Messrs. Williams, Ellis and Watts, all Ohio men, advised that President Van Cleave and Secretary Schwedman should go to Chicago and be "privately heard" before the platform was finally adopted.

James A. Emery, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, followed Mulhall, who was excused until Monday. Emery told how members of the association prodded members of congress to support legislation the association favored, and opposed those who threatened its interests.

VICTIM OF FOUL ATTACK IS DEAD PAYNE STILL HELD

George W. Duffee Dies at Nine O'clock
Last Night From Wound Inflicted
By Midnight Assassin.

THINGS LOOK BAD FOR MAN
ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

Trousers of Payne Sent Away For Chemical Examination—Pair of Shoes Found Near Victim Fit Man Held—Shirt he Wore Night of Crime Said to Bear the Initials of Murdered Man—Payne Declares he Is Innocent.

George W. Duffee, the victim of a murderous assailant who crushed his skull about midnight Saturday night, died at the Fayette Hospital Wednesday night at nine o'clock, after lingering in an unconscious condition from the time the fatal blow was struck, until the last breath. He never spoke a word after the blow fell.

Wednesday afternoon he continued to grow weaker and as night fell he became apparent that death would result within a few hours. His pulse gradually grew weaker until the end came peacefully at nine o'clock. For the greater part of the time his body was shaken with convulsions due to the injury of the brain.

Still further damaging evidence has been unearthed against Delbert Payne, the colored youth who was arrested Wednesday on suspicion of knowing something about the crime which has resulted in the death of Mr. Duffee.

However, under rigid examination by Chief McCoy and others, Payne went through the "third degree" with an air of knowing nothing about the case, although many admissions were not at all in his favor.

Young Payne admitted having been employed by Mr. Duffee at various times, and that he was perfectly familiar with the interior surroundings at the Duffee store and his sleeping apartments. He also stated that when he was working for Mr.
Duffee that it was his employer's custom to place his money in the bank every Monday, carrying the week's proceeds about the premises over Sunday.

Regarding the shoes found just outside the door of the room in which the fatal blow was struck, Payne said he knew nothing. He wore a pair of shoes, much the worse for wear, which he claimed had seen service on his feet for the past two months. His shoes were slit in a manner similar to those found at the Duffee store, and corns on the small toes was given as his reason for cutting the shoes.

He was forced to put on the shoes found at the store, and they fit him perfectly. Blue paint on one of the shoes had evidently been rubbed off the interior of the Rothrock-Brown livery barn. Payne said he threw away a pair of shoes two months ago.
He also insists that the last pair of shoes purchased was of Douglas make and he paid $3 for them in Zanesville.
The shoes held by the police answer the description. The case number was forwarded to the factory with the hope of establishing whether the

PAYNE'S RECORD NOT A GOOD ONE

The past record of Delbert Payne, the young colored man arrested on suspicion of being the person who brutally assaulted George W. Duffee last Saturday night and caused his death, is not a good one.

Payne's name appears on the court records as having committed a burglary for which he was sent to the Boys' Industrial School on November 5th, 1909, at which time Geo.
Castle, Ferrell Castle and William Mayo were held for the same crime.

Payne, after his release, was arrested in Columbus for a crime and again sent back to the reform school.

"Little Buck" Cole was detained Wednesday evening, by Chief McCoy and may be used as a witness in the case.

shoes found are the ones Payne bought in Zanesville.

His trousers had a number of suspicious looking spots on them as if made by blood, and were forwarded to Columbus where a chemist will establish the nature of the suspicious spots, either made by oil or blood, it is thought. Fresh initials "D. P." were in the shirt. Considerable importance is attached to the fact that the dim letters "G. W. D." are said to have been found on the collar band of the shirt left by Payne and it is pointed out that "G. W. D." could stand for no other than George W. Duffee. The shirt is being held by the police.

Payne had been hanging about the livery barn for several days, sleeping there most of the time. He still insists that he returned to the barn last Saturday night, but the employee of the barn with whom he claims to have slept, insists that he never saw Payne about the barn Saturday night.

Since that time he had been sleeping in rigs in the barn.

Payne denies having any knowledge of the crime and insists that the officials have the wrong man while the authorities believe the evidence is ample to warrant his detention.

Late Developments

More Damaging Evidence.

Wednesday afternoon the web of evidence, according to the authorities, was drawn tighter about Delbert Payne when additional proof of his guilt as the man who has repeatedly burglarized the Duffee store, was unearthed.

A pair of shoes, owned by Chas.
Gardner and which had been left in the Duffee shoe shop in the front of the store, were found at the Rothrock-Brown livery barn where the authorities believe Payne had hidden them.

These shoes were stolen from the shop the night of the crime and one of them had been slit as Payne had slit his other shoes.
They were too small for him to wear. The police have the shoes in their possession.

A light coat and pair of trousers, belonging to W. L. Duffee son of the murdered man, which were stolen several months ago while in the Duffee store, were found at the residence of May Hickman, the boy's aunt. Mrs.
Hickman, whose husband was murdered in Jamestown about a year ago, claimed Payne wore the coat home from Columbus.

The authorities now assert their belief that they have almost conclusive evidence of Payne's guilt, but are still seeking more proof.

The County Commissioners have offered no reward, feeling that present developments will probably eliminate the necessity Prosecutor Maddox drew a resolution Monday morning, to be adopted by the Commissioners, but they felt that developments then pending would clear up the affair.

HALF HOLIDAY BASE BALL GAME WON BY J. U. O. A. M.

The base ball game on Wednesday afternoon, the weekday half-holiday, was much enjoyed by quite a large crowd in attendance.

Jamestown was vanquished by a score of 14 to 2 and the local players are jubilant as a consequence.

Carr, who pitched for the locals was one time, several years ago, famous as a ball hurler on the local semi-professional team. He has not pitched ball for years, but Wednesday his same old lazy floater baffled the opposing batters. Only three hits were secured off his delivery.

Jones and Runnels of the locals made circuit swipes with the willow.

The boy confessed to the deed and

OBITUARY.

Amy Cross was born near Byenton, Pike county, Ohio, Dec. 14, 1835 and departed this life Aug. 3, 1913, aged 77 years, 9 months and 19 days.
She was united in marriage with William A. Kissling in 1853. To this union 10 children were born. Six sons and four daughters; of these eight children survive her.

In 1901 she removed with her husband, W. A. Kissling, to Good Hope, where in Oct. 1903 he passed to the eternal world.

Since then Mother Kissling has made her home among her children, principally residing at Good Hope.
Of recent years her bodily strength failed perceptibly. Her last illness was brief. She was weary and soon fell asleep in that restful silence men-call death.

Early in their married life Mr. and Mrs. Kissling united with the Methodist Episcopal church and both died in sympathy with the church of their early choice.

Mother Kissling was a friendly, kind, old-fashioned soul, a sort fast passing away. They do not fit well in these days of speed and style.

Her death was peaceful and beautiful. Conscious of the end, she spoke lovingly to her dear ones and at the close quietly breathed her last.

SOLICITING FUNDS FOR BAND CONCERTS

If every citizen approached by solicitors now making a canvass will contribute a small sum toward weekly band concerts, a series of open air concerts will be given during the remainder of the summer.

Under the present plans concerts will be given each Tuesday night during the remainder of the summer.

All depends on the attitude of those approached, and it may be truthfully said that so far the solicitors have met with good success and virtually every one who has been solicited has responded.

The next few days will tell the story, and every man is urged to do his part toward securing the weekly concerts.

Never before has the band been in better trim for giving enjoyable concerts than it is now, and it is to be hoped that the movement will succeed.

In Social Circles

Mrs. William E. Ireland, Mrs. Horace Ireland and Miss Ireland entertained Wednesday afternoon with an exceptionally handsome reception.

The spacious home, its rooms admirably thrown together, the hostesses' radiating hospitality, the peevy of charming matrons and pretty young girls assisting and the lovely summer day, all contributed to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Between the hours of three and six o'clock over two hundred fashionably gowned women came and went.

The hostesses received in the double parlors, fragrant with summer bloom.

Mrs. Ireland was looking very handsome in heliotrope chameuse, with relief of cluney lace.

Mrs. Horace Ireland wore an exquisite gown of white marquisette, with trimmings of baby Irish and deep girdle of salmon pink chiffon, exceedingly becoming to her striking brunette type.

Miss Ireland was attractive in white embroidered voile.

A white and gold color scheme was carried out in the decorations and a profusion of white asters and goldenglow effectively arranged. The tea table was lovely. A superb gilt basket of goldenglow and asters rested upon a large cluney center piece and tiny gilt baskets, twined with smilax, and filled with yellow mints, were at each corner.

Music filled the air, as an enjoyable undercurrent, but by no means disturbing the steady stream of conversation which rose in the different rooms.

Assisting in the delightful hospitalities were Mesdames T. H. Craig, D. S. Craig, Brooks Hughey, Martin Hughey, Frank Blessing, Ellis Daugherty, Jessie Faust, of Columbus City, Ind., Misses Elizabeth Ballard, Jean Glascock, Edith Hamm, Hilda Kyle, Louise Weaver, Mary Craig, Mary Faust, Columbus City, Ind., Helen McKay, Milledgeville.

Among the guests were Mrs. Harriet Conn, of Cleveland, Miss Blanche Stuckey, Cincinnati, Miss Holden, of Wheeling, W. Va.

A delightful Kensington was given by Mrs. Ben Baughn, of the Creek road, Wednesday afternoon.

Fifteen ladies enjoyed the sociability and delicious luncheon served.

Goldenglow formed the decoration. Mrs. Baughn was assisted by Miss Helen Archart and her guest, Miss Gertrude Baumgardner, of Cedarville.

OSCAR MOORE HAD HIS HANDS FULL

Former Patrolman of this city, Oscar Moore, who has been engaged as a deputy sheriff in Clinton county, had his hands full a few nights ago when he and another man attempted to eject two burly strangers from a picture show in Wilmington, where the men were creating a disturbance.

After requesting them to keep quiet and repeating the request, Moore and the two men and a man named Frank Murphy became engaged in a rough and tumble scrap, which terminated in the two strangers being handed outside, but not before they had left some black eyes and received some. Officers were called and the two men were escorted to the county jail and locked up.

Later the two men were given a fine of $27.50 which they paid. The men are agents for enlarging pictures.

KARNEY AWARDED CHURCH CONTRACT

R. C. Karney, of this city has been awarded the contract for the new $20,000 First Baptist Church in Wilmington, and will soon have a force of men engaged in erecting the edifice.

Mr. Karney was the lowest of three bidders, and secured the contract with the understanding that he is to employ as many Wilmingtonians as required for the labor.

The new building will be constructed of stone and pressed brick, and will be a very handsome building when completed. Mr. Karney expects to commence laying brick by September 1st.

A gang of men are busy tearing down the old church to make room for the new building.

ANOTHER HELPFUL DAY TO TEACHERS

Lectures Increase in Interest With New Speaker Present to Talk On Agriculture in The Schools—Enjoyable Evening Resulted at Social Session. Tomorrow the Last Day.

With nearly every teacher in the county present and everyone eager for the information to be imparted by the lecturers the morning session of the Teachers' Institute was opened today. Dr. Ellis came first with an interesting talk on "Reading," and was followed by Supt. of Agriculture Evans, of Lebanon, who spoke on the teaching of Agriculture in the school and the progress made during the short time it had been taught in the public schools. His talk was one of the most beneficial of any yet delivered as it covers a comparatively new branch.

"School Management" by Prof. Cookson was the last lecture before adjournment for dinner and was replete with helpful suggestions, made upon various questions propounded.

Thursday afternoon Dr. Ellis delivered what was pronounced his best lecture of the series, speaking on Mark Hopkins, the educator, who was a great friend of President Garfield and was for years president of Williams College.

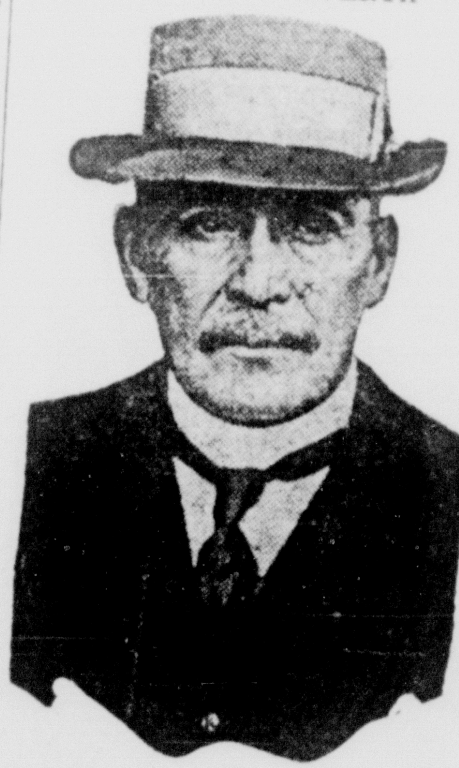

Supt. Evans again delivered a short lecture and was followed by Prof. Cookson with an interesting talk on Blannerhasset.

The social session held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night proved one of unusual pleasure and every teacher enjoyed every minute of the evening. One of the most amusing affairs was a mock trial, Supt. M. E. Wilson of the Jeffersonville schools being tried for soliciting magazine subscriptions. He was found guilty and sentenced to solicit every teacher for subscriptions to educational magazines or set up the ice cream to the entire crowd. He has been doing some good work.

Tomorrow will bring the institute to a close.

Stormy Try Out for I. and R.

Right now the I. and R. are holding the center of the stage in Ohio and that they are furnishing an entertainment full of thrills from start to finish admits of no denial.

The I. and R., for which so much was promised in the campaign for the adoption of the constitutional amendments and in campaigns prior to that, which had a less direct bearing upon the subject, have proven a cause of more disturbance and commotion in Ohio than the enemies of the proposal claimed would result.

The charges of frauds and forgeries, the charges of political trickery and of all sorts of dishonest motives hurled back and forth by the many political elements in Ohio politics, have dumfounded the friends of the I. and R., who claimed so much of good for their adoption.

Few people who urged the adoption of the I. and R. amendment to the constitution dreamed that resort to them would be so frequent.

Nearly all conceded that the adoption of the I. and R. would be the cause of continual disturbance and warfare in Ohio, if either one or both were called into use with any frequency.

As a deterring influence upon legislative bodies the power of the people to use Referendum would, it was believed, be productive of much good.

Even the most earnest opponents of the adoption of the I. and R. doubted that so much proof in favor of their contentions would be furnished in so short a time as has come about in the last four months.

While the I. and R. have been anything but soothing in their effect on the politics and business of the state thus far it is perhaps too early to condemn both principles finally.

It may be that there are regulations and restrictions regarding their use—such as requiring a larger percentage of voters to sign petitions, preventing the employment of agents to procure signatures to petitions and the like—which would do much to make the practical workings of the new governmental took less jarring on the nerves of sensitive people.

However unpleasant as the first plunge has been, a thorough try out should be made before final decision pro or con is entered.

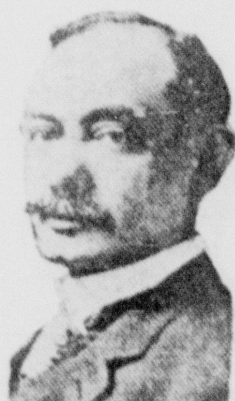

The people of Ohio perhaps could not have had a more favorable opportunity to put the I. and R. to the acid test than the course of legislation in the last six months has afforded.

There have been radical legislative changes, which have aroused the most intense antagonism.

Conditions which afford the ideally thorough, if decidedly unpleasant, test of availability for the I. and R.

Why America Is Undergoing Its Second Revolution

By WALTER H. PAGE, American Ambassador to Great Britain

© 1913, by American Press Association.

It came to pass that government was used more and more to give special privileges to special classes. A generation grew up in the United States that thought this use of government inevitable and even normal, and the GREAT RUSH OF PROSPERITY SEEMED TO JUSTIFY THIS LOSS OF OUR OLD TIME GOVERNMENTAL AND SOCIAL IDEAL.

And the people found out this gradual abridgment of economic freedom, and they set about removing it. They demanded the reduction of the TARIFF, which is the mother of privilege. They demanded the removal of the restriction of CREDIT. They demanded the dethronement of SPECULATION IN THE NECESSARIES OF LIFE with the money that they needed in their own affairs. They demanded the reorganization of their school work. They demanded the BUILDING UP OF COUNTRY LIFE, which the industrial organization had neglected while it built up the towns. They demanded the removal of all artificial direction of their work and of their lives.

AND THIS WAS THE BEGINNING OF OUR LATEST AMERICAN REVOLUTION, FOR WHEN THEY DISCOVERED HOW FIRM A GRIP PRIVILEGE HAD GOT ON GOVERNMENT THEY SET ABOUT THE TASK OF LOOSING IT IN MANY WAYS—SOME WISE AND SOME FOOLISH, SOME DIRECT AND SOME INDIRECT, BY INVESTIGATION, BY AGITATION, BY EXPERIMENT WITH NEW DEVICES.

This is the MEANING OF SUCH SOCIAL UNREST AS WE HAVE HAD. This is the meaning of the revolution in education. This is the meaning of the war on speculation and monopoly. This is the meaning of the referendum and the recall. This is the meaning of the commission form of city government. This is the meaning of the popular election of senators.

Poetry For Today

A SMILE FOR HER.

A smile for her, and it will not matter
How hard the grind or how loud the clatter,
Through heat and dust and the toil she'll go
As sweet as the rose when the spring winds blow.

A smile for her and she will not care
How all day long in her quiet there
She must keep the home like a place to stay
When you come from the victory and the fray.

A smile for her—she is worth it all;
You have your rise and you have your fall
Your worry and trouble and storm and strife,
But so has she, it's the tale of life.

A smile for her, and you don't know how
It will smooth the wrinkles upon her brow.
It will help her sing and help her feel
That your soul has answered her heart's appeal.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The municipal platform of the Socialist party in New York goes so far as to demand the "proper clothing" as well as "feeding" of all the pupils of the public schools and also granting of pensions to school children, when necessary so that they may continue their studies until the age of eighteen is reached.

The new Yale club building in New York City is to be twenty-two stories high and will, it is claimed, be the tallest club building in the world.

For writing on the margins of news papers sent through the mails a man in Portland, Oregon, was fined $100 and costs, in the Federal courts recently. This is an offence many commit through ignorance. Uncle Sam has a school to teach them different and the tuition comes mighty high.

Every school in the state of Wisconsin has a small library of good books. A number of years ago a law was enacted providing that 10 cents for each child of school age was to be withheld from the state aid to each district and this money should be used for the purchase of library books. As a result, the country children have an assortment of good books and each year finds them more used. There are a million volumes in Wisconsin rural libraries costing about half a million dollars.

Chief Food Inspector for Cincinnati announced yesterday that the condemnation of his department last week were the largest in its history. The value of food condemned was $70,000, divided as follows: $45,000 in tomato pulp; $20,000 in candy materials; $1750 in vegetables; $2,725 in eggs and $3,150 in fruit.

John H. Patterson, of the Dayton National Cash Register Company, who is summering in the Canadian woods, sent a telegram to the Charter Commission yesterday declaring the report of his withdrawn support from the new charter to be false. In his message he said: "The nonsupport of this charter movement will be worse than the flood in its injury to Dayton."

The Baldwin Locomotive Co., announced that today the only factor determining the size and power of large locomotives is the physical endurance of the fireman and that an ordinary fireman cannot put in the firebox more than five or six thousand pounds of coal an hour.

A graduate of Stevens Institute recently made a little pleasure trip in a balloon inflated with natural gas. The ascent took place at Akron, and was the first ascent in a regular touring balloon ever made from that town. So successful was the trip that there is forming a small aero club in Akron to make regular ascensions at a cost probably not exceeding $10 a passenger.

An advertising novelty, recently patented, is a megaphone which can be collapsed into the form of a fan and used as such. The megaphone has a mouthpiece which is adjustable to serve as the handle of the fan.

Swallow Bichloride Tablets and Are Found in Each Other's Arms.

Baltimore, Aug. 7.—Gladys McClure, 16, and Lillian Love, 17, concluded to end their lives as had Irene Klein, a friend several weeks ago. Providing themselves with bichloride tablets, they went into a rest room of a crowded department store and took the poison. They were found lying on the floor locked in each other's arms. An ambulance hurried them to Mercy hospital, where the stomach pump was applied. The girls may not recover.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

March 2, 1871.

Communicated through the Herald to Mr. C. F. Dean:

As there was considerable feeling aroused over town last week, owing to certain criticisms of yours, very severe, and we think, very unjust, on an essay of Rev. S. A. Keen, and being somewhat mixed up in the discussion myself, and receiving some severe thrusts, I take this mode of informing you that I am ready at any convenient time and place of discussing that question with you under rules and regulations hereafter to be agreed upon.

Resolved, That Religions instructions should be given in our common schools. I deny the proposition, and am ready to defend myself.

ACE GREGG.

Our old friend, John Mills, now in his 87th year called upon us yesterday and renewed his subscription to the Herald for the 13th year. Mr. M. is hale and stout, and has resided in Jefferson township in the north west part of this county, 51 years. When he settled there his nearest neighbor was two miles from him, and the whole country an unbroken wilderness. He can now travel in any direction from his residence on good turnpike roads, and through densely populated and flourishing neighborhoods.

EVERYBODY HAPPY AT THE SCOUT CAMP

The 26 Boy Scouts enjoying an outing at "The Fork" in Highland county, are all well and happy and are kept under the close watch of Secretary Ray F. Zaner, who is at the head of the camp.

Physical Director McClung returned from the camp Wednesday morning, and reports the camp pitched in an ideal location. The shallow creek has been dammed and an ideal swimming pool of moderate depth established, so that danger of getting beyond their depth has been eliminated, and the Scouts enjoy the water two or three times each day.

Many persons are visiting the camp from the surrounding towns, and are favorably impressed with the manner in which the Scouts are spending their outing.

Gifts to Sulzer's Fund Reported $5,000 More Than Accounted For.

New York, Aug. 7. — Contributions to Governor Sulzer's campaign fund, under the fire of a legislative investigating committee, were at least $5,000 more than his sworn statement showed them to be, according to the testimony of bank officials and others who took the witness stand at the resumption of the committee hearings. Counsel for the committee sought to show that the governor had purchased 200 shares of railroad stock on Oct. 22, 1912, paying cash for them, and to establish connection between the transaction and the contributions he failed to include in his sworn statement. Brokers, summoned as witnesses, made such inquiries with that refusal to answer. They were directed to remain under subpoena till the courts can decide if they must answer.

Death resulted from coming in contact with a live wire carrying 25,000 volts. Death resulted instantly to May, who was working higher on a ladder than Fey, but both fell to the floor. Signs of life were visible in Fey, but physicians who were rushed to the plant with pulmotors were unable to aid him.

He was appointed to represent the railroads on the board, together with W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania.

These two arbitrators, with the two representing the unions, were scheduled to meet here Aug. 5, to select two neutral members. They have fifteen days to do this. Girls Expected to Prove the State's Star Witnesses.

San Francisco, Aug. 7. — The first witnesses to be called by the prosecution in the white slave cases will be employees of the Southern Pacific railroad. With these the government hopes to show that Maury Diggs, the defendant, bought the Reno tickets for the evening quartet and attended to the details of the trip until they registered at a Reno hotel, where they pretended to be married couples. Several Sacramento police officials and Martin Bessler, uncle of Miss Warrington, who figured in the arrest of the quartet, will then be called. Miss Warrington herself will follow. She and Miss Norris are expected to prove the government's star witnesses.

Cuyahoga County Auditor Makes Sensational Charge.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 7. — Charles T. Preston, auditor of Cuyahoga county, declared that C. C. Meekison, under $5,000 bond on a charge of attempting to burglarize the offices of the Ohio Equity association to steal the Warner referendum petitions, had importuned him last Friday midnight to join him in hiring two yegmen to aid in the burglary. Preston declares that he declined to become a party to the crime, but he was innocently drawn into it through Meekison summoning him to the Glisay hotel for a midnight conference. Meekison and Preston are friends, it is said.

Preston said: "Meekison pleaded with me that this was absolutely the only chance to prevent the filing of the petitions, that it must be done. I urged him not to do anything that was crooked and would lay him liable to the state's prison. He said that 'immunity from any prosecution had been promised him and that we would be safe in doing what he proposed.' Meekison said to me: 'Charley, I am in a terrible pickle. If I do not defeat this referendum I can not hope to be appointed tax commissioner of Henry county. I have simply got to do this to save myself. I am in it and must go all the way through.'"

DARK, DEAD STARS Old Columbia and Reliance May Get a Chance to Show Whether They Can Defend America's Cup

Millions on Millions of Them Are Flying Through Space.

THE PERILS OF A COLLISION.

What Would Happen if One of the Larger of These Erratic Derelicts Should Whirl Itself Into Our Solar System. The Birth of a Nebula.

Possibly it has never occurred to many people that there are such bodies as dark stars, but so great an authority as Sir Robert Ball has said that the dark stars are to the bright for numbers as the cold horseshoes in existence are to the red hot ones. For every such hot one there must be many hundreds of cold ones, so that if the simile is sound the heavens must contain an incredible number of these derelicts on the ocean of space, which, having lived their life, have grown cold and dead, but are still racing about at star speed until in their wanderings they meet some other heavenly body in terrific collision.

Such gigantic catastrophes as the clash of two stars, each perhaps millions of miles in diameter, rushing at each other at the rate of twenty or thirty or even more miles per second would result, so the mathematicians tell us, in a world splitting explosion exactly as if each were composed of billions of billions of tons of gunpowder, and as when gunpowder explodes nothing is left but gas and smoke, so in the clash of stars nothing would be left of the two great solid bodies which had collided but an immense whirling mass of incandescent gas called a nebula, of which, as most people know, there are quite a number dotted over the heavens. This maelstrom of gas would sail about among the stars for ages, in the course of which it would naturally cool down and condense into a star system much like our own, with probably a central sun, planets and moons.

Some of these would sooner or later arrive at a condition of temperature suitable for the support of life and as the centuries passed would become peopled with sentient beings. Gradually they would grow too cold for life to exist and finally become frigid, cold, dark stars once more. The number of stars visible to the naked eye is only a few thousands. With the best telescope and other instruments it is calculated we can detect about a hundred millions—not a large number (there are fifteen times as many people as that living on this globe), but, judging by Sir Robert Ball's horseshoe simile and reckoning only a hundred dark ones to every bright one, we may take it that there must be at least 10,000,000,000 dark stars chasing about in space, most of which we have never seen and probably never will see.

I say most of which, for perhaps it may come as a surprise to some that the earth we live in is a dark star. So are all the other planets and planets of our solar system, which with their moons, of which bodies, shining only by the reflected light of the sun, there are at least 600 known to astronomers. Nor must we forget to mention those bodies called shooting stars which may be seen almost any clear night if patiently watched for. These, though they look like stars, are hardly, as every one knows, to be dignified by the name, being mostly but very small masses of matter flying about in space. They are quite cold and dark until they enter our atmosphere, where they do at such a speed as raises them at once to a white heat by friction of their passage through it, and thus they are revealed to us.

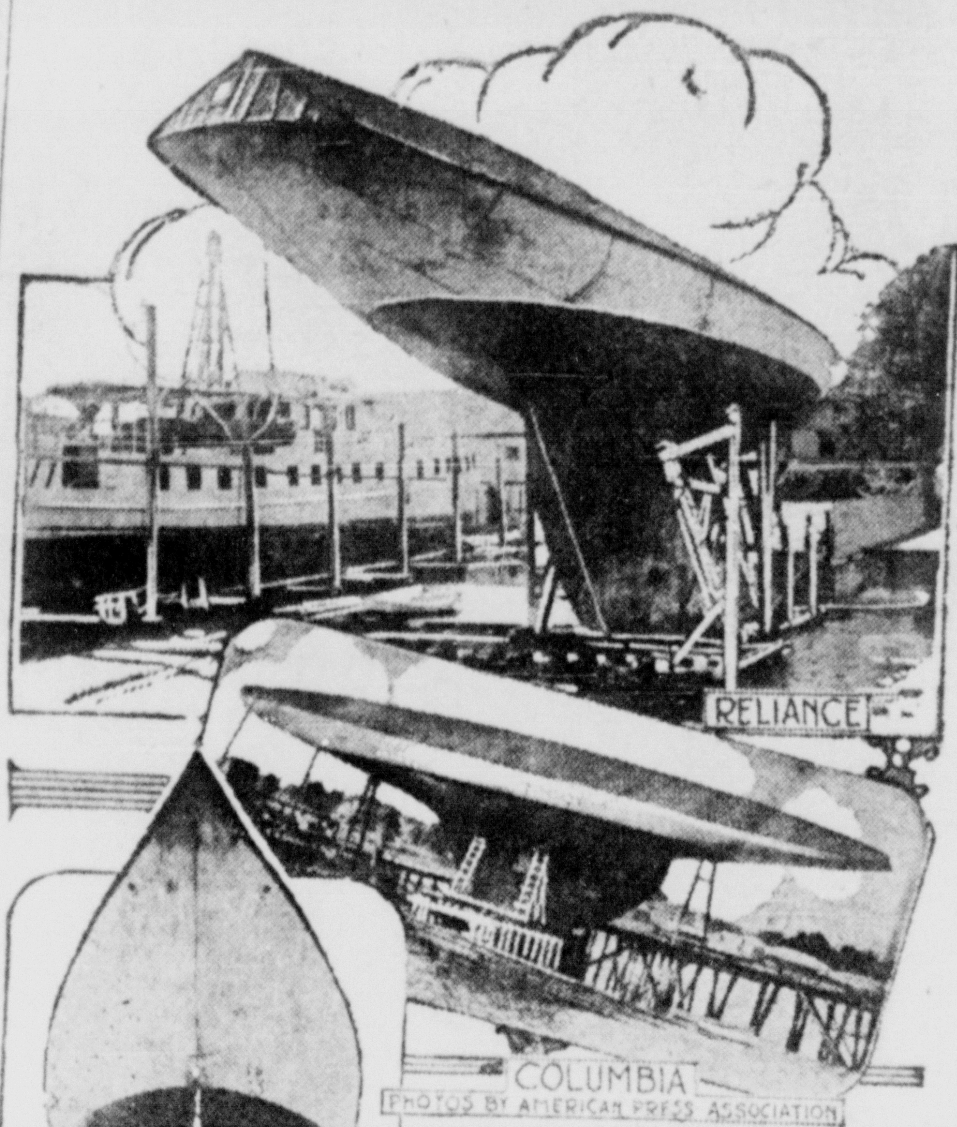

For every one we see there must be many thousands whose paths miss us entirely, ships that pass in the night, silently and unknown. Some of these are of immense magnitude and are undoubtedly regular in their course. Others are doubtless flying about the heavens on haphazard paths, and it is conceivable that one might come along and collide with us or our sun. The result of such a collision would undoubtedly be the end of this earth and its inhabitants.

If the intruder were of any respectable size a collision with any of the larger members of the solar system would produce such a conflagration as would raise the temperature of all the rest above the point at which life as we know it could exist. "The earth and all the inhabitants thereof would be burnt up and the elements would melt with fervent heat." Even if such a star did not collide, but merely passed through our system, the effect of its attraction would altogether upset present conditions and almost certainly bring about the cessation of life on the earth.

Neither can we encourage ourselves with the hope that the collision would be too sudden for us to know much about it. No such thing. Our astronomers would see the star directly it got near enough for the sun to light it up, probably fifteen or twenty years before it arrived, according to its size and speed. They would be able to calculate its path and foretell to a few minutes the precise moment of the catastrophe, and we should have the added horror of the anticipation of our slowly advancing doom. Indeed, the passage of even a small star quite outside our system by many millions of miles would still have a sufficiently disturbing effect on us to draw us out of our path and alter entirely our climate and temperature.—Chambers' Journal.

Cheerfulness and content are great beautifiers and famous preservers of youthful looks.—Dickens.

New York, Aug. 7.—Will the old champions of the yachting world, the Columbia and Reliance be brought into service once again as possible defenders of the American cup? This question is being mooted now in yachting circles. The two boats are in dry dock at City Island, N. Y., as shown in the pictures. It has been suggested that they be put into commission again and tried out. If they can be made to speed as fast as they once did it is possible that one of them may be selected to sail against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. next year. If neither is found fit a yacht may be built along the same lines. The Columbia was victorious in the international races in 1889 and 1901 and the Reliance in those of 1903.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Diegel Seeks Parole.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—That Rodney J. Diegel, former sergeant-at-arms of the state senate, has given up all hope of receiving a pardon from the hands of Governor Cox for his connection with legislative bribery, was made apparent when he withdrew his application and petition from the desk of the governor and sent them to the state board of administration. He is now seeking a parole, which is in the power of the state board to grant, and which would insure conditioned freedom.

Kills Himself in Sleep.

Warren, O., Aug. 7.—William H. Grace, killed himself here while dreaming about a Balkan war battle. Grace and his wife attended a moving picture show where pictures of the Balkan struggle were exhibited. Shortly after they returned home and retired Grace muttered something in his sleep about battle, reached under his pillow, where he kept a loaded revolver, and springing out of bed fired a bullet into his brain. Death followed shortly.

Cleveland to Celebrate.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 7.—The Niagara, Perry's flagship, now making the rounds of the Perry centennial celebrations in Great Lakes cities, will come to Cleveland Sept. 14. Cleveland at first decided not to take part in the celebration, but later reversed the decision, and the Perry centennial commission allotted the above date for a three day's visit of the flagship.

Killed by Gas.

Richfield, O., Aug. 7.—George Petrosky is dead and three men who went to his rescue were overcome by gas and narrowly escaped being asphyxiated at the plant of the Royal Sewer Pipe company, near here. Petrosky, while looking down an air shaft, lost his hat. He secured a rope and went to the bottom of the shaft, where he was overcome.

Girl Implicates Two Physicians.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—Attestis are expected soon as a result of an autometism statement by Helen Andrews, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Andrews of this city. In her statement the girl implicated a Columbus young man and two Newark (O.) physicians. The girl died in a sanitarium.

Physician May Lose Sight.

Marietta, O., Aug. 7.—Dr. J. W. Beebont of Dexter City, a few miles east of Marietta, probably will lose the sight of both eyes as a result of the explosion of a bottle of chloroform. Dr. Beebont was experimenting with the chemical when the explosion occurred.

AROUND THE WORLD IN THIRTY-FIVE DAYS.

New York, Aug. 7.—John Henry Mears, the special commissioner of the Evening Sun, who left New York July 2 on a trip around the world, arrived in New York again with a record that beats by more than three days the best previous time for such a journey. The former record, held by Andre Jaeger-Schmidt of the Paris Excelsior, was 39 days, 19 hours, 42 minutes and 37.4 seconds. Mears' time was 35 days, 21 hours, 35 minutes and 4.5 of a second. He fell behind his schedule time by four-fifths of a second.

JOHN PURROY MITCHEL, FUSION CANDIDATE FOR NEW YORK MAYOR, IS 33

JOHN PURROY MITCHEL © 1913 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

New York, Aug. 7.—John Purroy Mitchel, who was appointed collector of the port by President Wilson last spring and is the fusion candidate for mayor, is thirty-three years old. He is a grandson of John Mitchel, the Irish patriot, who was banished to Australia in 1848 for fiery utterances in his Young Ireland movement newspaper. Like President Wilson, Collector Mitchel's ancestors were Scotch-Irish, and his forebears were Presbyterian ministers. His mother was a sister of Henry D. Purroy, the anti-Tammany leader of the Bronx.

Mr. Mitchel was born in Fordham, July 19, 1879.

SAYS HE MURDERED GIRL.

Detectives at Work on New Clue in Alice Crispell Case.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—County Detective James Holman returned from Harvey's lake, where he had been trying to learn from the friends of Miss Alice Crispell whether they ever had heard the girl mention the name of a suitor with the initials A. N., the only signature to a postal mailed from New Rochelle, N. Y., to William Crispell, in which the writer said that he had murdered her.

Detective Holman was unable to find any one who ever had heard of a man with those initials. The letters which have passed between Herbert Johns and the girl have been examined and, while references are made to a suitor, no name is mentioned.

County Detective James Price said: "We will thoroughly investigate this card and will ask the postal authorities to help us find the writer. At this time the postal would appear to have been written by a fanatic, but we are not taking any chances. "We give some credence to the postal because we have reasoned all along that a jealous rival probably figured in the case. It may develop that the initials A. N. are assumed and that the slayer of the girl is really suffering from a tortured conscience."

A COLLARLESS SENATOR.

Washington Heat Makes Thornton Forget His Neckwear.

Washington.—One of the hottest days of Washington's summer explains why Senator Thornton of Louisiana as he stepped aboard an elevator at the capitol remarked, with conviction: "It's hot, isn't it?"

"Yes, senator," replied the elevator man, "but you seem to be fixed for hot weather."

"How's that?" asked the senator, looking down nervously at his attire. "By leaving off your collar and tie," was the answer.

Mr. Thornton's hand fumbled under his heavy white beard.

"Good heavens!" he exclaimed. "Did I leave them off? And I have just been making a round of departmental calls! I talked for an hour with the postmaster general."

Then the senator hurried back to his office and telephoned for the missing neckwear.

DOG IN FIGHT WITH SNAKE.

Beizes Rattler as He is About to Strike Master and Kills Him.

Clearfield, Pa.—Tippy, a little mongrel dog, saved the life of his master, Frank G. Harris, one time county treasurer, while the latter was on a fishing trip to Moose creek, near here, by attacking a big rattlesnake that was about to strike Harris in the face.

Mr. Harris, desiring to reach the other side of the stream, started to crawl over on a slippery log. Just as he reached the far end of the log a big rattler raised its head directly in front of his face and drew back to strike.

Tippy, who had swum the creek, darted at the snake and obtained a hold just back of the head. His keen teeth made short work of the rattler.

PARCEL POST ORDER STANDS.

Expansion Planned by Burleson Legal, Senate Committee Holds.

Washington.—Without a formal vote the senate committee on postoffices and post roads decided that Postmaster General Burleson was within his powers in ordering an increase in the weight limit of parcel post packages and a decrease in the postal rates. This means that Mr. Burleson's order will go into effect without legislative interference.

The committee had before it a bill and a joint resolution, both sponsored by Senator Bryan of Florida, repealing that section of the law under which Mr. Burleson's order was issued. No action was taken by the committee on either measure, and the subject is considered settled for the present.

Neglected His Duty.

Mr. Pester—What made you get off that car backward? Any fool could have told you not to. Mrs. Pester—Then why didn't you?—Kansas City Star.

EXPECT SPEEDY END OF OPIUM TRAFFIC

Nations Unite to Control Shipment of Drug.

Washington.—Dr. Hamilton Wright, American delegate to the second international opium conference at The Hague, has returned from the Netherlands enthusiastic over what was accomplished at the conference and confident that before the end of the present year all the world will have ratified the convention of the opium conference of 1912, the provisions of which call for international control of traffic in opium and other habit forming drugs.

While some nations have not signed the agreement of 1912 and others have declined for the moment to deposit ratifications of it, the recently ended conference at The Hague adopted a unique measure to exert enough pressure upon the governments still holding out to bring about ratification within a few months. The conference adopted a resolution calling on the Dutch government to make representations urging adoption of the opium convention on the outstanding countries through the Dutch ministers in the various capitals.

CITIZENS BUILD SCHOOL.

County Treasury Depleted, Residents Do the Work Quickly.

Craig, Colo.—Instead of becoming discouraged at the refusal of the county to build a schoolhouse at Illinois Park, owing to the fact that the treasury was depleted, 100 citizens turned out in a body and, armed with hammers, saws, etc., completed by nightfall one of the neatest and most substantial school buildings in northwestern Colorado.

In addition to the labor, they also furnished the material. A local divinity student, Ernest Kline, has volunteered his services as instructor. The school will open at once for a summer session.

WAITER'S $1,000 LUNCH.

Bites Into Black Pearl, Which Is Appraised by Jewelers.

Akron, O.—While eating clams at a restaurant Jack Newman, a waiter, bit into something hard, and when he painfully removed a piece of foreign substance from his broken tooth a large black pearl was revealed.

Newman took the pearl to several jewelers, and its value was placed at $1,000. It is one of the finest of the black pearl varieties. At first it was feared that the jewel was damaged by cooking, but experts pronounced it perfect.

Chemistry and Truth.

Dr. Benjamin E. Smith, the noted lexicographer, once made an autobiographical statement which may interest advocates of scientific education, says the Manchester Guardian. Some one had asked his opinion about the best methods of teaching truthfulness to children. "Frankly," he replied, "I know I told the truth as a child purely from a desire to please my mother, as I would have carried out any other course of action on which she insisted. But I never saw any other reason for doing it until as a lad I worked in a chemical laboratory. Then I realized that nothing that was said made the slightest difference to the elemental fact, and I believe I have loathed exaggeration and falsehood ever since."

Cost of a Boat Race.

A writer in Bailey's Magazine of England has been figuring on the cost of the annual boat race between Oxford and Cambridge and says the expense to each crew may be approximately estimated at $3,000 for each. He then says that as the contest rarely takes more than twenty minutes the cost works out at about $300 per minute, or about $8 every time the oars dip into the water. The cost of the boats is placed at $250 and the oars at $70, the rest of the money going for preparation from October until the day of the race.

300 WOMEN ASK PENSIONS

Ten Receive Grants Under the New Washington Law.

Seattle, Wash.—Ten women receive grants of pensions from Superior Judge Prater when he heard the first batch of cases under the mothers' pension law, enacted by the recent legislature. Fifteen cases were heard. Three were denied and two were referred for further investigation.

The largest pension granted was for $37.50 a month to a destitute widow with seven children. The amounts in the other cases ranged from $15 to $30 a month, according to the circumstances of the petitioners.

The investigator of the pension department reported that 300 applications for mothers' pensions had been filed, of which 150 came within the provisions of the law.

If Lion Pulls and Horse Pulls.

If a lion and a strong horse were to pull in opposite directions the horse would pull the lion backward with comparative ease. But if the lion were hitched behind the horse and facing in the same direction and were allowed to exert his strength in backing he could easily pull the horse down upon his haunches or drag him across the ring, so much greater is his strength when exerted backward from the hind legs than in forward pulling.

GOT DRUNK ON A BEEFSTEAK

And Also on Overstrong Tea and Even on Cold Water.

According to a house surgeon in a London hospital, it is not necessary to take strong drink at all in order to be drunk. Cases have been known in which patients have got drunk on a beefsteak after having been for many weeks on a very light diet. The intoxication in these cases showed itself in a slight dizziness and drowsiness and indistinctness of speech.

Similar cases have been known in which the only intoxicant has been strong tea. In fact, there are instances in medical books of exceptional people in whom the constant use of overstrong, overdrawn tea has brought about distinct symptoms of delirium tremens.

Perhaps the most curious sort of intoxication on record is that in which the only intoxicant is cold water dripping from a water tap into the ear. In Germany a few years ago quite a number of morbid people had a craving for this curious way of inducing drunkenness, but it seems to have been stamped out.

The drip of the water is said to cause a painful boiling sensation at first and then to cause a pleasant drowsiness, ending in deep sleep. When the victim is roused he is dull and stupid in manner, like a heavy drinker. This craze makes its victim a nervous wreck in a very short time.—Pearson's Weekly.

Making It Right.

Mother—I gave each of you boys an orange. Charles, you said you wouldn't eat yours till after dinner. And you, Jack, said the same. Have you devoured them? Charles—No, mother; I didn't eat our oranges. I ate Jack's and he ate mine.—Life.

Type of Dangerous Slide Which Managers Would Abolish

PRATT OF ST. LOUIS BROWNS SLIDING TO THIRD.

SEVERAL major league baseball managers are recommending that the system of sliding first be abandoned and the old style of sliding to bases head first be revived, providing that the base runners are supplied with rubber sliding gloves to prevent spiking.
So many men are injured each year in sliding that serious losses result to the game. While many men were spiked in hands and arms under the old system, those injuries did not keep them out of the game necessarily. But now the most frequent accidents from sliding are wrenched and sprained knees and ankles.
Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics says: "Something radical must be done to prevent injuries to players in sliding. The present method is almost a form of suicide."

LEARNING TO SWIM IS EASY

Begin With Breast Stroke and Then Take Up Overarm.

PROPER BREATHING AN AID.

Aquatic Expert Gives Hints That Will Enable Any One to Master the Rudiments of Propelling Oneself in Water—Trudgeon Best All Around Stroke.

In learning to swim the breast stroke should be used, because it provides the easiest method of keeping afloat. After it is mastered it should be discarded entirely and never used except for resting. The single and double overarm (trudgeon) strokes and possibly the fast Australian "crawl" stroke should then be developed.

Do not expect to learn even the breast stroke without assistance. The beginner should always have an experienced swimmer on hand to correct faults. To learn this stroke stand in water about waist high. Stretch the hands straight out in front, palms downward. Take a deep breath and bend forward. As the water covers the breast and shoulders bend the wrists, thumbs downward, so that the palms present a flat surface to the water on either side, and with a slow, full arm sweep bring your arms around through the water until they come to your sides. Bend your elbows up and draw your hands forward under your stomach "dog paddle" fashion. Straighten out your arms and repeat. Do not pay much attention to your feet at the start. Let them drag in the water. Learn the arm stroke first. Repeat the arm stroke until you have accustomed yourself to taking SLOW MOVEMENTS. Beginners always err back and support you or else have him hold you up with a hand placed under your stomach.

The average grown person should be able to learn the breast stroke enough to keep afloat and make slow progress through the water in two days.

The Single Overarm Stroke.

When you have conquered the leg and arm movements to the point where you have entire confidence in yourself and can go for a few hundred feet without tiring, begin to vary your stroke by bringing your right hand clean out of the water when it reaches your side at the end of a breast stroke. Carry it forward and reach straight ahead, dip into the water and carry it back to your side with about half the circle in the water that you made in the breast stroke. While your right arm is being carried forward in the air execute a breast stroke with your left in the water, thus supporting your body. Take a deep breath as you bring the right arm forward. Do not breathe with the left arm stroke. Next you can learn to perform this "side arm" or "single overhand" stroke with the left arm. And when you combine the two you have learned the "double over arm" or trudgeon stroke, probably the greatest all around swimming stroke yet developed. While the "crawl" is faster at short distances, it is not found adaptable to the long distance races.

The leg movements are different in the overarm strokes from the breast stroke. The legs are opened up like scissors when the swimmer is on his side, and the feet are brought together with a powerful snap while the arm stroke is being completed.

Carry the head low in the water in this stroke—under it, in fact—when you have learned the action thoroughly, breathing as the arm is taken out of the water and carried forward. Keep your head on its side in the water in the overarm stroke, inclining the mouth upward and out of the water to breathe as the overarm movement and kick are executed.

BEGINNING AT HOME.

Pertinent Question a Bright Boy Put to a Governor.

The late Governor Larrabee, the "grand old man" of Iowa, was extremely fond of children. One day while looking over his mill at Turkey River he found an urchin, dirty and ragged, sound asleep near the water wheel. The boy was Mickey Burke, son of a poor family in the neighborhood.

The governor asked the boy why he was so dirty and ragged. The boy explained his mother had a large family and had to work hard and could get him no better clothes.

"But you can keep clean," exhorted Larrabee. "You could wash your face and hands if you wanted to. That costs nothing."

Mickey said he would try. "Well," said the governor, "now is the time to begin."

He procured a washbasin, some soap and a towel and watched Mickey scrub himself until he shone. Then the governor got Mickey some clothes and dressed him neatly. Mickey looked fine.

"Now," said Larrabee, "we'll see about getting you a job."

He took Mickey to the store of an old German of whom the governor was very fond. Mr. Schneider had no place for Mickey.
